Russians Fire on Ship Taking Them US Grain

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ring of three shots across the bow of an American grain ship, the Black Sea by a Soviet naval vessel has been termed "extensive" and "clearly outside the norms of acceptable behavior" by the State Department.

At the same time, the department conceded that the action may have been within strictly legal rights.

The department said a Soviet naval vessel halted the SS Siser Katingo last Wednesday, boarded it and forced the captain to pay a fine. The American ship had left the port of Novorossiysk without permission for a wage dispute.

No injuries or damages were reported.

Officials here said Friday that the ship's captain, Arthur H. Fertig, 44, of Wading River, N.Y., reported the ship was stopped when it was 16.3 miles from land—outside Soviet territorial waters.

Soviet authorities "may have been within strictly legal rights," according to international law, to pursue, board and search the Katingo, the department said. But it added: "The methods employed by Soviet authorities were excessive and clearly outside the norms of acceptable behavior."

An oral protest was delivered here to Georgi M. Kornienko, Soviet minister counselor, by Acting Asst. Secretary of State Richard Davis.

He told Kornienko to request that his government "undertake measures to prevent a repetition of this incident."

The department said the incident stemmed from different means of paying Soviet stevedores. According to Fertig's report, it said, the ship had the choice to pay either $3 per hour per man for unloading its cargo of 32,436 tons of grain, or 50 cents per cargo ton. Fertig chose the $3 per man rate.

This apparently displeased Soviet authorities, and the dispute was referred to the Soviet Ministry of Merchant Marine in Moscow. It ruled that the dispute be arbitrated and that the Katingo be permitted to leave after discharging its cargo.

The local authorities refused, however, to clear the ship, and it left Wednesday without permission.

According to the captain's report, the ship was pursued by a Soviet patrol boat flying international signals with orders to return. When it "failed to heed the order, a Soviet naval craft fired three rounds across the bow of the ship," the State Department said.

After a search the Soviets forced the captain to pay a 50-ruble (about $55) fine and permitted him to continue to Istanbul.

Vaccination Ratio Low in E. Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The State Health Department reported Wednesday that the level of protection against preventable communicable diseases in Mississippi County is below satisfactory levels.

The department said 9.2 per cent of the white children under five and 29.2 per cent of the Negro children under five had been vaccinated against smallpox in the past four years.

It was reporting on a recent sampling made in the county. The department said 84.7 per cent of the whites and 60 per cent of the Negroes in the five- and under group, had active protection against diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus.

In the same group, 44.8 per cent of the whites and 26.1 per cent of the Negroes had taken oral polio vaccine. Salk vaccine had been taken by 49.2 per cent of the whites and 44.6 per cent of the Negroes.

On the whole population, 71 per cent of the whites and 61.1 per cent of the Negroes were protected against tetanus; 29.1 per cent of whites and 22.9 per cent of the Negroes against smallpox; 51.7 per cent of the whites and 35.4 per cent of the Negroes against polio and 49.1 per cent white and 50.4 per cent Negro had additional polio inoculations.

Jonesboro Man Dies in Wreck

HARRISBURG, Ark. (AP) — John W. Blaxton, 53, of Jonesboro was killed Friday and his son and two truck drivers were hurt in a highway wreck involving the Blaxton car and two trucks.

John W. Blaxton Jr., 6, was in serious condition in a Jonesboro hospital. James Howell, 57, Negro of Pine Bluff, and Billy Harris, 26, of Cherry Valley, the truck drivers, were hospitalized in Harrisburg with less serious injuries.

State Trooper Marvin Cook said Howell's truck struck the rear of Harris' truck, then veered into the left lane where it collided with Blaxton's car.

Rights Test Suit Filed by Georgian

By DON MCKEE

Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—Warning of a congressional dictatorship, motel owner Moreton Rolleston contended Friday in federal court that the new civil rights law takes away property rights and invades the domain of state legislatures.

Rolleston, an attorney, argued his case before three federal judges in the nation's first court test of the 15-day-old law. As president of the Heart of Atlanta Motel Corp., Rolleston sued for an injunction against enforcement of the statute.

The court took the issue under consideration.

Citing an 1875 Supreme Court decision invalidating a similar law, Rolleston urged the three judges to send the issue on to the highest tribunal.

"Where a U.S. Supreme Court decision has been handed down, no court has the right to reserve that decision except the U.S. Supreme Court itself," he said.

Rolleston conceded the high court likely would reverse itself, but he said, "This court cannot presume."

He said Congress had no constitutional power to enact the law—not even under the interstate commerce clause upon which the statute stands.

"This bill really should have been named the extension of the interstate commerce clause to eradicate state legislatures," Rolleston said. The theory of the act, he said, could mean federal abrogation of "everything that used to be private right."

The next step, Rolleston warned, would be "the taking over of all legislation by Congress and the setting up of a dictatorship in Congress."

Attorney Burke Marshall of the Justice Department argued that the right of Congress to regulate interstate commerce also extends to anything affecting such commerce—including purely interstate business.

In a countersuit, the government asked an injunction against the motel operating on a discriminatory basis.

Marshall said Congress could deal with racial discrimination in public accommodations because it affects Negroes traveling in interstate commerce, involves artificial restrictions on markets, and racial disputes have a economic effect.

Congress went into the matter fully, Marshall said.

"I think the findings of Congress are entitled to great weight," he said. Marshall denied the law's enforcement amounted to illegal taking of private property.

Johnson Plans Visit to Ranch
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson planned to fly to Texas this afternoon to spend the weekend at his LBJ Ranch, the White House announced today.

Press secretary George E. Reedy, in making the announcement, said Johnson would take "weekend reading and reports with him."

Mrs. Johnson is expected to join her husband at the ranch, near Johnson City, after making an informal visit to the Harry S. Truman Library at Independence, Mo.

The President is expected to return to Washington sometime Sunday.

Free Will Baptists Plan Convention
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The National Association of Free Will Baptists will hold their 1966 convention in Little Rock. Some 2,000 delegates from 32 states and Canada attended this year's convention in Kansas City, Mo.

Charges Heard in Test of Civil Rights Law

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A three-judge federal court takes up again Monday a charge that an Atlanta restaurant owner has violated the new Civil Rights Act.

At the same time, the court ponders a motel owner's request that the government be prohibited from enforcing the act.

The court heard charges and counter-charges in the cases Friday in the first legal tests of the act.

In one case, brought by three Negroes and joined in by the government against the Atlanta restaurant owner, Lester Maddox, attorneys presented 19 witnesses in an attempt to prove that Maddox is guilty of violating the act.

In the other case, the court took under advisement the request of an Atlanta motel owner, Moreton Rolleston, that the government from enforcing the new law.

The judges promised a ruling soon on Rolleston's request for an injunction barring enforcement of the law.

The government has also filed a countersuit against Rolleston asking the court to prohibit his motel from refusing to serve Negroes.

Rolleston, who is also an attorney, pleaded the case for his Heart of Atlanta Motel alone, he faced a battery of lawyers from the Department of Justice and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The motel owner argued that Congress had no constitutional power to enact the civil rights law, not even under the Interstate Commerce Clause, the basis of the act.

If the Civil Rights Act is constitutional, Rolleston said, then Congress has the power to take over everything that used to be a private right.

In the Maddox case, FBI agents and wholesale food dealers presented testimony aimed at proving that the restaurant serves interstate travelers and that a substantial portion of its food has moved in interstate commerce.

Presiding Judge Elbert P. Tuttle said the only actual issue in the case is whether the restaurant's operation affects interstate commerce.

Negroes Are Granted Meet With Board

STAR CITY, Ark. (AP)—Fifty-two Negroes will be granted a special meeting of the Star City School Board on July 27 to discuss school integration and the firing of six teachers.

The Negroes signed petitions which were presented to Supt. Harold Tidwell, who said the board had agreed to hold the meeting.

Tidwell said the Negroes wanted to know the board's policy in regard to school desegregation, and wanted to discuss it in detail.

"We told them that any child—white or colored—who asked to be transferred would have to apply to me," he said. "I would then take it up with the board and they would make the decision."

"We did not say anything about accepting or rejecting any child's request. We just told them the process they would have to go through," Tidwell said.

One of the petitioners said a previous meeting with the board had had results which the Negroes considered unsatisfactory.

Tidwell said the teachers, who were dismissed in May from Lincoln High School, were released because of unsatisfactory work.

The teachers were Marcus May, M. J. Richmond, Andrew Carr, J. D. Miller, James Bateman and Mrs. L. Stokes. One of them said they were fired because they were suspected of having dealings with the Student Nonviolent Co-ordinating Committee, an anti-segregation group.

Tidwell denied this. He said the teachers could have protested their firings to the school board and did not.

Raising 'Bob White' Quail Proves Interesting Hobby for Couple at Guernsey

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

A license is necessary for lots of things these days. For instance, it is needed to raise quail domestically as well as to hunt them, but that wasn't learned by this writer (who doesn't recognize the uncooked variety of quail) until a recent interview with Mrs. Herbert Bristow, 217 W. 5th Street.

What began as a hobby for Mr. Bristow, a retired barber, has grown in interest for him and Mrs. Bristow, who has taught the first and second grades at Guernsey about 25 years. This year at the Science Fair at Guernsey the Bristows quail created quite a sensation, though they were not "entries," merely exhibits.

Those who live near the Bristows know why the North American quail is called the Bob White. "Bob White" is the gentle call the birds give, and the Bristows say it is often a wild quail that comes in answer to one of their breed. One quail, in particular, is especially friendly. He "talks" to everyone and was a "hit" at the Guernsey Science Fair. His name? Pretty Boy... because he is.

Starting with two pair which they got from Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Huchabee of Spring Hill, the local "covey keepers" now have 15 to 17 pair. That isn't counting the 15 birds that were hatched July 8 for they must be three months old before their sex can be determined. Therefore, the number of new pair is unknown at this time.

As everyone knows, the quail is a delicate bird. The full impact of that statement wasn't realized until it was pointed out that the baby birds hatched July 8 would have frozen to death (with a low of 75 degrees at night) if a light bulb had not been left burning near them. However, that is probably also true of other fowl.

In captivity the quail hens won't hatch their small brown eggs. A foster mother must be found, but a regular-sized hen is so large she would crush the fragile eggs. So, Mrs. Bristow has five bantam hens who take over the hatching duties. You know how small an adult quail is, so it will come as no surprise that a new-born one is only about as large as the first joint of a human adult thumb.

The new birds must be penned up, for they would scout out of sight in a second if given the opportunity. As they grow older, the birds are placed in four pens in the Bristow backyard with four pair to a pen separated by runways. There is no domestic mixing, for a quail has only one mate for life as do most other birds.

A quail is either nesting (in the spring and summer) or resting (in the fall and winter) and there is no deviation from the regular procedure. The quail is 9 months old before it lays eggs. Then, it takes 23 to 25 days before they are hatched. This fall the Bristows will have some five or six month-old birds ready to release. You see, they aren't raising them to sell for food. Instead, they plan to have them used to train bird dogs or to stock hunting areas.

The Hempstead County quail population will probably be increased this fall, thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bristow.

Engineering Chief Looks Over Program

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Col. Richard H. Free, the new Southwest Division chief of Army Engineers, got a good look today at his biggest project—the Arkansas River.

Free, in Arkansas for a meeting of the Arkansas Basin Association today, took a plane trip down the river from Little Rock to the Mississippi.

Thursday afternoon, Free flew upstream from the capital city to Dardanelle.

Engineer spokesman indicated that Free was impressed with the work under way on the river.

Free succeeds Brig. Gen. Carroll H. Dunn, who will become deputy chief of staff of the 8th Army in Korea.

Brig. Gen. Howard W. Penney of Washington, director of basin planning for the engineers, spoke to the Basin Association as it opened its meeting.

The real credit and responsibility for the development of the river, he said, "lies with the people involved. To the people of Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas, it presents a magnificent prospect of the extensive industrial and economical development, increased protection of the ravages of flood, conservation of water and expansion of outstanding recreational opportunities."

"Man's continued striving to harness and exploit water resources primarily to provide himself with cheap transportation, which in turn nurtures commercial and industrial growth, has been a major factor in shaping the course of development both in Europe and America," Penney said.

McClellan Says Barry the Best

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater is the "best and strongest man among those who were mentioned and available" for the Republican presidential nomination, en. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Thursday.

McClellan said he regarded New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton and former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge as members of "the Republican liberal wing and being no difference in any substantial degree from the present administration."

"As of now the odds strongly favor a Johnson victory," McClellan said, adding that he expected one of the hardest fought campaigns in history because of what he called the sharp issues.

McClellan would not say whether he would support Goldwater or President Johnson, but added, "I'm a Democrat, you know."

War Bride May Get to Go Home

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — A Jonesboro group is working to give an English war bride who couldn't get home for her mother's funeral a chance to visit her ailing father.

The ladies auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is campaigning for enough trading stamps to provide the trip for Mrs. John Russell of Ipswich, Suffolk.

Mrs. Russell married in 1944 while she was serving with the Women's British Army Corps and Russell was at an American base at Brentwood, England.

Her mother died in 1960, but her husband's illness prevented Mrs. Russell from going home then.

She came to the U.S. in 1946 and lived at Trumann before moving to Jonesboro.

She has not seen her 69-year-old father or seven brothers since World War II.

Mrs. Russell said her oldest daughter, Barbara, 13, would take care of the family while she is gone.

Winthrop Gets Boost for Candidacy

By JOHN R. STARR

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Arkansas' Winthrop Rockefeller finally got the boost for his gubernatorial candidacy that he was hoping for at the Republican convention.

Rockefeller, head of the Arkansas delegation, was chosen to make a routine motion to allow the Republican National Committee to fill vacancies between now and the next convention.

Sen. Thurston Morton of Kentucky, the convention chairman, introduced Rockefeller as the national committee member for Arkansas and "the next governor of the state of Arkansas."

Rockefeller made the motion from the speaker's platform with a battery of television cameras trained on him.

The brief appearance in the spotlight made up in part for the failure of some television cameras to focus on Rockefeller when he cast the Arkansas ballot for Barry Goldwater Wednesday night.

The Arkansas delegation was seated just below the main television platform and cameramen couldn't get an angle. Rockefeller let other members of the delegation make other announcements from the floor.

The Arkansas delegation also got some mileage out of its planned move to nominate Rockefeller as a favorite son candidate for president.

The move was abandoned minutes before the floor proceedings were opened for nominations, but there was at least one "Rockefeller for President" standard in the convention hall. TV cameras trained on it from time to time.

Arkansas finally cast 12 votes for Goldwater as the convention moved to make his nomination unanimous. It voted nine for Goldwater when the votes were being counted.

The Arkansas group voted unanimously for Rep. William Miller of New York, Goldwater's choice for the vice presidential nomination. But the Arkansas needed no urging from Goldwater to support Miller. He was their favorite long before Goldwater named him.

Delegate Cy Carney Jr. of Fayetteville said, however, he felt a ticket with Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine as the vice presidential nominee would have been stronger.

Warren Lieblong of Pine Bluff said the 1964 Republican ticket can insure "that the two-party ticket will be in the South from now on" if Southern Republicans use it properly.

"I believe the voice of the people was heard out here," said delegate Bill Poynter of Texarkana. "The delegates have done their job. Success in November will depend on the people I predict to Goldwater — (Winthrop) Rockefeller victory in November."

Howard Vance of Sedgwick, one of the delegates who voted for Scranton, said he was satisfied with the ticket and would support it vigorously. Vance was especially satisfied with the selection of Miller.

"I don't think he (Goldwater) could have made a better choice for vice president," Vance said. Some members of the Arkansas delegation started for home today. Several will remain through the weekend to see the sights of San Francisco. There wasn't much time for sightseeing during the week.

Plant Workers Against Union

HAMBURG, Ark. (AP)—Employees of the Hamburg Shirt Corp. voted 67 to 43 Friday against representation by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (AFL-CIO). The firm has 110 employees.

Donates to Miss Arkansas Scholarships

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A retired Florida financier turned grandfather to Arkansas beauties this week and raised the scholarships offered at the Miss Arkansas Pageant from $2,500 to $4,400.

Mercer Lee Price of Ormond Beach, Fla., announced that the Price Foundation, of which he is president, would give $750,000 to the winner of the Miss Arkansas Pageant.

Price made the announcement by telephone to Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce Manager Mort Cox as he (Price) accepted an invitation to attend the pageant.

Thursday night Price announced that he would provide through the foundation an additional $1,200 in scholarships for pageant finalists.

Price said he had seen the contestants and decided to increase the amount.

Price said he has no children. He said he worked his way through school and found it difficult.

He vowed at that time, he said, that if he were ever able, he would do what he could to make things easier for other young people.

Price said his foundation has provided more than 90 scholarships in the past two years.

The foundation, started two years ago by Price and his wife, provides all the scholarships for the Miss Dixie Pageant held annually at Daytona Beach, Fla., he said.

The increase in grants to the Miss Arkansas Pageant would include $500 to the first alternate, $400 to the second alternate and $300 to the third alternate.

The original $2,500 in scholarships to the pageant is provided by the Pepsi Cola Bottlers of Arkansas in cooperation with the Pepsi Cola Co., one of the sponsors of the Miss Arkansas Pageant.

Price said the Price Foundation has provided scholarships for state pageants in Tennessee, North Carolina, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee and Mississippi.

He met Cox while attending the Miss Missouri Pageant last week.

Calls Barry's Comment Dangerous

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said today that Barry Goldwater's comment on extremism Thursday night was "dangerous, irresponsible and frightening."

Rockefeller said in a statement that Goldwater's remark, made in accepting the Republican presidential nomination, "raises the gravest of questions in the hearts and souls of Republicans in every corner of our party."

The New Yorker aimed his comments at the portion of the acceptance speech in which Goldwater told the GOP National Convention delegates: "Extremism in the defense of liberty is not a vice. Moderation in pursuit of justice is not a virtue."

Rockefeller, who made a run for the nomination in the name of moderation and sought unsuccessfully to get a declaration against extremism into the party platform, said his own reaction to Goldwater's statement was one of "amazement and shock."

To extol extremism—whether in defense of liberty or in pursuit of justice—is dangerous, irresponsible and frightening," Rockefeller said.

The governor did not indicate in his statement whether Goldwater's remarks had changed his announced intention of supporting the Republican ticket this year.

I shall continue to fight extremism within the Republican party," Rockefeller said. "It has no place in the party. It has no place in America."

Extremism Remark Brings GOP Concern

By WALTER R. MEAR

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater relaxes today in the hilltop desert home he loves while Republicans seethe with debate and discord over their presidential nominee's defense of extremism in the cause of freedom.

Aides said Goldwater was expected to transact one bit of business: a formal withdrawal of his bid for Senate renomination now that he has won top spot on the Republican ticket.

The conservative senator flew from San Francisco Friday night to a triumphant homecoming in his native city. About 3,000 persons cheered the state's first presidential nominee.

Goldwater left in San Francisco a boiling GOP feud over a remark he uttered in accepting the nomination Thursday night — a remark he underscored Friday in these words: "Extremism is no sin if you are engaged in the defense of freedom."

Before the Republican National Convention's windup session, Goldwater declared: "I would remind you that extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. And let me remind you also that moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

The remark brought a swift, sharp retort from an old campaign foe, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—the first caller to congratulate Goldwater when he was nominated Wednesday night — termed it "dangerous, irresponsible and frightening."

Charles H. Percy, the GOP candidate for governor of Illinois, called for an explanation from the nominee.

And Goldwater apparently discussed the statement during a half-hour talk in San Francisco with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Goldwater aides said Eisenhower sought the meeting.

Dean Burch, swiftly approved the GOP National Committee as Goldwater's choice to take over its reins, said the senator had told Eisenhower he was "rather extremist" when as a general he launched the Allied invasion of Europe in 1944.

Snapping back at Rockefeller, Goldwater said several American presidents—George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt—took what he considers extreme steps "when defending our freedoms."

Scout Camp Not Just a Man's World

By LEE LINDER

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—One would think a national jamboree of 52,000 Boy Scouts would be strictly a man's world—but it's not so.

Many hundreds of women—mothers, sisters and just curious sightseers—are roaming the roads and valleys of historic Valley Forge with their menfolk, watching the scouts and their leaders at work and at play.

Jamboree is a toughening up time for some," says chief scout executive Joseph A. Brunton Jr., "a camping experience for others and an experience in group living for all."

Officially, the Jamboree opened its week-long stand Friday. And the scouts began the routine that will last until the encampment ends next Thursday night: reveille at 7 a.m. followed by a prayer period. Taps is at 10:20 p.m.

A mammoth "Profiles in Heritage" pageant is the opening night feature with a cast of 6,000 backed up by a scout chorus of 1,600 and a 150-piece band.

Claims to Be Child of 29th President

By DAVE SMITH

GLENDAL, Calif. (AP)—A Glendale housewife and mother of three has yielded up a secret kept for more than 20 years: She is the illegitimate daughter of Warren Gamaliel Harding, 20th president of the United States.

Mrs. Henry E. Blaessing, 46, speaking in a tired voice, said she is the late president's daughter by a mistress, Nan Britton.

"I've talked to so many reporters today," she said. "I haven't even had a chance to talk to my sons to find out what they think of all this."

News stories about recently discovered love letters from Harding to another mistress, Mrs. James Phillips of Marion, Ohio, referred to Nan Britton and to the "love child" Miss Britton said she bore out of wedlock.

The Los Angeles Herald Examiner found Mrs. Blaessing living in this suburban community. Miss Britton, now 67, lives in Evanston, Ill.

"We are very close," said Mrs. Blaessing. "She's a wonderful person."

Mrs. Blaessing, listed as Elizabeth Ann Christian on her birth certificate, was born Oct. 22, 1919, in Asbury Park, N.J. Harding, then a U.S. senator, was 53, married, childless and just one year away from the presidency.

In 1921 Elizabeth Ann was adopted in Chicago by her mother's sister, Elizabeth, and her husband, Scott Willis. They also live in Glendale now.

"I was the most logical one to adopt her," says Mrs. Willis. "I had no children, and that way we could keep her in the family. She thought we were her parents until her mother took her back when she was seven."

Mrs. Blaessing recalls: "My mother told me when I was very young that President Harding was my father. He died in 1923. I don't remember ever seeing him. I believe, though, that my mother sent him photographs of me and my mother told me that he sometimes inquired about me."

Mrs. Blaessing says knowledge of who her father was created no problems for her.

"I had a normal childhood," she says, "but then, I didn't go around telling people about it."

She continued: "I do recall that when she (her mother) spoke of President Harding she always talked of him in glowing terms. Mother wasn't bitter. All through the years she never spoke badly of him. It was all love, adoration and affection. She told me she loved him very much. She still does."

Mrs. Blaessing was married on Sept. 18, 1938, in Chicago.

The Blaessings moved to California at the end of World War II and settled in Glendale three and a half years ago. Blaessing is manager of an office building. They have three sons, 17, 13 and 10.

Until Thursday, Mrs. Blaessing says, only her closest friends and a few members of the family have known of her parentage. Even her sons hadn't know.

nearly naked, half starved, scratched, bruised and insect-bitten.

Fendler's stamina and cool-headedness won the nation's praise in 1939.

On that July 17, while hiking with his father, Donald, and twin brother, Ryan, Donn tried a short cut and became lost.

The largest—up to then—search party ever organized in New England spent day after day on the mountain's barren crags.

At the end of a week, hope was virtually gone. The boy had no food and was thinly clad.

But on July 25, the exhausted Donn reached the shore of the Penobscot River's east branch 35 miles from the mountain.

His faint cries were heard by Nelson McMoarn, who canoed across from his sporting camp.

To newsmen, Donn related his story: "When he realized he was lost, I shouted but got no reply. I tried to find north but couldn't. After that it was just a case of going on and looking for any trail or landmark that I might run across."

"I found an old burlap bag hanging to a tree and made myself a sleeping bag. I crawled into it each night and pulled my shirt over my head and in that way was able to have a good sleep."

He lived on strawberries, wintergreen and water from stagnant pools.

"The nights were so dark and cold. I could hear the queerest

LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP

By Mary Ann Dunlavy

Benson looked across the table at his bride of two weeks and genuine affection warmed his smile. She not only never questioned his plans, she always entered into them wholeheartedly.

It was easy enough to find single women in their forties, what with the divorce rate nowadays, but to find wealthy widows who were childless was becoming more of a problem. Ellen was so obliging as to have no close relatives of any kind. She was almost too good to be true.

"I won't say the honeymoon is over," he told her, reaching across to press her hand, "but now that we're back in town we've got to think of practical matters. First, I believe, we should find a house. This apartment was all right for a bachelor, but we'll need more room."

He was thinking: The last two died in traffic accidents and it's imperative to change the method.

Ellen smiled, the little laugh lines crinkling around her eyes. She said shyly, "I'd like for you to do some entertaining, too. Oh, Benny, it will be such fun in our own house. I'll call the real estate agents this morning."

Delightful woman. He made his tone wistful. "I've always wanted to have a workshop, so if you wouldn't mind a house with a basement where I could fix up a corner."

"Of course not. It's a marvelous idea." The warmth in her eyes told him how frantically clever she thought he was.

As she started to clear the table, he stopped her. "There's one other thing we should discuss. At our age retirement isn't too far off and I feel we should start planning for it now. We'll want to do some traveling."

"I've always wanted to see Europe," she agreed. "And Hawaii."

Opening his wallet, Benson took out a sheet of paper covered with figures. This was always a touchy moment and he tried to keep his voice casual but confident. "Our best bet seems to be insurance policies on both of us that are convertible to annuities when we reach 65. I've talked to an agent and policies of 50 thousand should give us an ample income. Also, that way, if I should die earlier, you'll have enough to live on."

He was watching for alarm but after a surprised moment she showed only distress. "Oh Benny, don't even think such a thing! We're going to have such a wonderful life together."

And with a double indemnity clause, he would make a nice noises. I thought a lot about bears. And then one day I saw two. I was scared and I guess they were as scared as I, because when I ran away they ran the other way."

Finally, Donn came to a brook. From his scout training he knew that if he followed it, he'd eventually come to a river. As he hiked along he found a telephone line. The line led him to the east branch.

After a few days' rest in a Bangor Hospital, Donn had a hero's welcome.

Later he was a guest of President Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N.Y., and the two exchanged autographs.

Donn became a Seabee in World War II. After graduation from the University of Georgia, he elected to make the Army his career.

Today Maj. Donn C. Fendler is in another rough spot. He is a special forces advisor in South Viet Nam, on his second tour of duty in that war-torn nation. As a specialist in guerrilla warfare, the 37-year-old graying father of four again risks his life daily.

"DEAR ABBY"

IT'S HER JOB!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: I am in love with a girl who is engaged to somebody else. She had already accepted his ring when I met her, but she wasn't wearing it at the time. Not until I had fallen deeply in love with her did she tell me about her engagement because she didn't want to lose me. She says I am the one she loves, but she can't bring herself to hurt her fiancé by breaking off with him right now. I can't see any point in waiting around. Last night she asked me if I would explain everything to her fiancé and return the ring. I have never met the man, and I don't think I should. My girl says he is a nice person and would do me no violence. I need some advice.

CONFUSED

Dear Confused: You are going little killing, he smiled to himself at the pun. He'd better wait at least six and a half months after the applications went through. Maybe longer, but he didn't mind. Ellen was a very pleasant companion.

It was a tricky business trying to find the right house. The steps had to be steep, preferably badly lit, and wooden, so if he had to finish the job, he could use a board of the same thickness. With modern police methods they'd be sure to notice if the fatal wound was inflicted with the wrong sized instrument.

They'd looked at dozens of houses without finding one that would do. There was no hurry, of course, but he wanted plenty of time for planning.

The insurance policies had been in effect for several weeks when Ellen called him at the office to tell him she thought she had found their house. "It's just what we're looking for, but there is one drawback."

He was cautious. "What's that?"

"The basement steps are so steep and narrow. They're really dangerous the way they are now."

"I see. Well, perhaps with a good railing... But if they're too bad we can have them replaced. When can I see the house?"

"The agent is busy this evening, but he left me the key. After dinner we can drive over and look at it."

The house was exactly right; convenient to live in until the accident and with basement steps perfect for his purpose. He stood at the top of them the concrete floor at the bottom, looking down the steep flight to feeling the old excitement warm his blood.

The hand in the small of his back took him completely by surprise and he tumbled headlong. He just had time to realize she'd pushed him before the back of his neck hit something very hard and he stopped thinking entirely.

U.S. Voters to Get a Clear Choice

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Republican party under conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater now begins a presidential campaign that is unique in the 20th century and will be remembered for generations.

The four-day convention that made Goldwater the party's candidate against the Democrats' President Johnson was a foregone conclusion. But the implications are profound.

This 1964 campaign will be vastly different from the kind the Republicans have waged for decades. Previous ones hardly did more than urge restraint on the expansion of federal power and programs.

But Goldwater wants to return to some aspects of the past. In his acceptance speech Thursday night he said "we must and we shall return to the proven ways—not only because they are old but because they are true."

For example: Although Democrats and Republicans agreed in the Employment Act of 1946 that the government has a responsibility for the general welfare, Goldwater has said it must withdraw from social welfare programs.

He did not necessarily budge from that position Thursday night when he said, "we must assure a society here which, while never abandoning the needy, or forsaking the helpless, nurtures incentives and opportunities for the creative and the productive."

And, as he has said before, he would diminish both the role and the power of the federal government. He said:

"We Republicans define government's role, where needed, at many levels, preferably the on closest to the people involved: Our towns and cities, then our counties and states, and only then the national government."

"That is the ladder of liberty built by decentralized power. On it also we must have balance between branches of government on every level."

Never once in his speech did he say a word about what he thinks should be done on civil rights for Negroes although, because of his vote last month against the Johnson-sponsored civil rights bill, this will be a major and perhaps blazing issue of the campaign.

It is hard to believe this will not be one of the roughest campaigns in this century—perhaps the toughest.

Less than two weeks ago Goldwater said one of the main issues of the campaign would be the "scandal hanging over the White House."

Two nights ago, discussing Johnson's role in civil rights, Goldwater called him a faker and a phony.

Thursday night he said "our people have been given bread and circuses, spectacles and even scandals." And he talked of "corruption in our highest offices."

At this moment it is impossible to know how much appeal Goldwater will have to the masses of voters, or even to liberal Republicans, although it seems clear he will need all the Republican support he can get.

If he loses, particularly if he loses badly, Republican power in this country will probably be shattered for years. If he wins, the country will have to reverse its course and take a sharp turn to the right.

Then a whole new evaluation of the government's role at home and its foreign policy would begin.

In the past, at least back to 1940, the two parties have looked pretty much like twins, except for semantic hair-splitting on issues that looked more synthetic than real.

Thus for years voters have

Weird Craft May Provide Moon Landing

By HOWARD BENEDICT

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A pair of weird-looking aircraft dubbed the "Flying Bedstead" and the "Flying Bedstead" may pave the way for astronauts to make safe controlled surface landings on earth and on the moon.

The Bathub, a wingless vehicle called the M2, has made more than 30 manned flights above this desert test center. Project officials say its concept offers great encouragement that spacemen of the future will be able to fly their space ships back to earth like an airplane, selecting their landing spots.

The Bedstead, officially called the Lunar Landing Research Vehicle, is scheduled for its first flight next month. It is a complex maze of tubing, wiring and rocket engines which will enable pilots to simulate lunar landings and take-offs.

President Johnson examined

not been given a clear choice between liberal and highly conservative parties. They'll get that chance this year.

India's independence from Great Britain occurred on Aug. 15, 1947.

Indications Campaign to Be Rough

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Is the 1964 presidential campaign going to be rough or not?

It has threatened to be rough - perhaps the roughest in years - and personal, too.

Just a few hours before he got the Republican presidential nomination last night Sen. Barry Goldwater went after President Johnson in a way both rough and personal.

And this was not the first time he got rough.

But after the nomination the senator pledged a vigorous but clean campaign and said he will conduct it solely on the issues and will not "engage in personal attack."

As the winner, relaxed and apparently happy with his success, he said on radio and television he knows Johnson's conduct of the campaign will "be like mine" and won't delve into "rumors and gossip."

Just how Johnson would react to a roughing up is not predictable. But no one has ever accused him of being a political patsy. He didn't get where he is being one. And he is very sensitive to criticism.

All week Republican orators had gone through the usual political convention routine with speeches ranging from high platitudes to jibes at Johnson and the Democrats. The Democrats will do the same in reverse at their convention in August.

But Goldwater, while waiting for the Republicans to name him their nominee, brought the whole business down to earth with a crash by telling newsmen Johnson "is the biggest faker in the United States—the phoniest individual who ever came along."

convention of both parties since 1944 and cannot recall ever hearing any of the candidates over those 20 years sing that kind of language.

Goldwater said this while criticizing Johnson's record on civil rights. The senator dared the President to make an issue of it, saying: "I will just read the thousands of words he has spoken against anti-race legislation, the FEPC (Fair Employment Practices Commission) and equal accommodations."

He was talking of years past because the Constitution has been amended to outlaw the poll tax in federal elections. And Johnson pushed this year's Civil Rights Act which forbids discrimination in employment or in places of public accommodation.

He was talking of years past because the Constitution has been amended to outlaw the poll tax in federal elections. And Johnson pushed this year's Civil Rights Act which forbids discrimination in employment or in places of public accommodation.

(The FEPC was World War II measure which Congress eliminated after the war. Despite proposals to restore it, it never was. The prohibition against discrimination in employment in the 1960 Civil Rights Act gives government less power than the wartime measure.)

Johnson, as Senate leader from 1955 to 1961, steered through the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1957—the first of its kind in this century—and the Civil Rights Act of 1960. Neither forbade discrimination in employment or accommodations.

Goldwater voted for the 1957 act, was absent during the final vote on the 1960 act, and voted against the 1964 act, a stand which may have helped his election chances in the South but brought him criticism from liberals and Republicans and particularly from Negroes.

Democrats, anxious for the Negro vote in the large cities of the North, were expected to make Goldwater's stand against the civil rights act an issue in the campaign if he got the nomination.

Less than two weeks ago Goldwater took another rough swipe at Johnson in listing what he said he considered the main issues in the campaign this year. He said one would be "the dark shadow of scandal that hangs over the White House itself."

He didn't explain at that time what he had in mind.

That Word in Anger...

You spoke it loudly and without concern, but did it solve any problems for you?
You told him off, but did you get the order? Sure, relief at the time may seem sweet and bear up your own ego, but soon a dirty, gray regret sets in.
Count ten??? Ah, you'd better count to a hundred or more and, by so doing, have a word fitly spoken. God said, "Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosom of fools." Eccl. 7:9. Angry words can't be called back. One can't unsay them. The damage they do may be irreparable. Want to quit your foolishness? Then, seek out righteous men for your companions and ask God to help stay your tongue for, "He that is soon angry dealeth foolishly."

You In The Church
The Church Is You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs
the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

THE CHURCHES OF THIS COMMUNITY ARE THE ONLY INSTITUTIONS WHICH HAVE AS THEIR MAIN FUNCTION, THE TRANSFORMING OF HUMAN LIVES. THEY ARE THE SIGN BOARDS POINTING THE WAY TO GOD.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through these pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted . . . to combat Communism on all fronts . . . to be faithful to God.

OUR PASTORS ARE GOD'S SERVANTS WHO CALL THE SIGNALS AGAINST THE ORGANIZED FORCES OF EVIL. THEY INVITE YOU TO ENLIST ON THE SIDE FOR GOD . . .

It is Paid For By Frims Who Hope To Measure Their Reward In Greater Numbers Of People Attending Church.
